

Effective and Efficient Instruction: Helping Adult Education and Literacy Students Become Successful and Independent Learners

Presented by the Florida Adult and Family Literacy Resource Center

Date: Friday, June 28, 2013
Time: 9:00 a.m. – 1:00 p.m.
Location: United Methodist Cooperative Ministries
403 1st Avenue SW
Largo, FL 33770
Fee: Free

This session will provide teachers and tutors with tools and strategies to identify and address the educational needs of adult learners, including those with special learning needs.

The session will address:

- Key elements of effective instruction
- Instructional strategies that teach students “how” to learn
- The importance of teaching higher-order thinking skills throughout all instructional lessons and activities
- How to help students become independent learners, who can self evaluate, succeed in their studies and successfully transition into postsecondary programs and chosen careers.

Presenter: Neil Sturomski, Consultant with Sturomski & Associates. See Neil's Bio.

Pre-registration required. Space is limited, so register today! Click here to register.
