

2012 Florida Literacy Conference

Friday Hands-on Sessions

Friday, May 11; 8:30 AM - 9:45 AM	Applying a Health Literacy Lens to Learning Materials	Through an interactive workshop, session attendees will learn about core principles of health literacy, and ways to review and apply these principles when selecting or developing materials for literacy education.
Friday, May 11; 8:30 AM - 9:45 AM	ProLiteracy Education Network: Free Resources for Adult Literacy Programs	In this hands-on workshop, you will explore the extensive collection of free resources for instructors, students and program managers available through ProLiteracy Education Network. Ednet is a complete revision of the site that used to be called Thinkfinity Network. Come see what's new!
Friday, May 11; 8:30 AM - 9:45 AM	Recruitment & Retention	Participate in this interactive workshop discovering creative approaches to recruiting and retaining volunteers, sponsors, and board members!
Friday, May 11; 10:00 AM - 11:15 AM	Say What?	"Say What?" is an interactive presentation that includes tips and resources on bridging communication gaps in the public health sector, especially those related to education, language, culture and sensory impairment.
Friday, May 11; 10:00 AM - 11:15 AM	Prime Time is Family Time	Learn how implementing a Prime Time family literacy program can influence family interaction by encouraging families to spend time reading and discussing children's literature. Participate in a mini-Prime Time to see how the program works!
Friday, May 11; 10:00 AM - 11:15 AM	Strategic reading instruction to improve comprehension of struggling readers	Strategic reading is an active process. Students must create understanding by transforming information to build connections to the text. Participants will work collaboratively to practice the strategies that are demonstrated.