

LINCS - Tutor Ready: Resources for Tutoring Adults in Reading

Tutor Ready is organized around common tutor questions. A tutor will start with a list of questions that correspond to a component of reading. They can start with the first step and be guided through the answer or they may simply look through the list of questions to find an answer. Because it is self-paced, it can be used in a wide variety of settings which makes it especially helpful for programs that need flexibility or have limited tutor training resources.

Each question offers a detailed overview with examples, video demonstrations produced by California Library Literacy Services and various resources throughout. This resource is freely available to everyone and is easily accessible through the LINCS Learner web. To learn more about Tutor Ready, watch this short recorded webinar introduction or get started on the LINCS Learner Web.